Mr. Borg brings his passion and purpose to each venture ensuring that Index is living up to its mission of developing intelligently designed properties that bring value to the community. His commitment ensures that Index maintains a reputation for sound business projects that always bring more to the table.

FREDRIK ALAMA
Co-founder of Index Investment Group

International Real Estate Expert and Entrepreneur

Fredrik Alama is co-founder, with business partner Bjarne Borg, of Index Investment Group, a private business development group with global investments in Real Estate and Energy.

A successful entrepreneur with a passion for real estate, Fredrik Alama leads Index Investment Group from its headquarters in Stockholm, Sweden. Mr. Alama's background and knowledge allow him to manage and oversee various key areas of this growing real estate investment group including finance, sales, marketing and property profiling.

Mr. Alama began his career as an entrepreneur, making his first property acquisition at age 20, and hasn't looked back since. He also comes from an extensive real estate background previously working as a realtor for some of Sweden's most prestigious firms early in his career. His passion and dedication to this industry have helped him develop a "sixth sense" for real estate. He constantly monitors the pulse of where and how the international real estate market moves and enjoys studying and tracking business issues including entrepreneurship, real estate investments, urban planning, housing policies, and more. With a sure eye and strong analytical skills, Alama's contributions will help to bring this illustrious group to the next level.

Mr Alama lives in Norrtälje just outside of Stockholm, Sweden, with his family. He has five children. In his leisure time, he enjoys skiing and tennis in addition to architecture and design.
